

SECTION 25: RYDER BROOK GOLF CLUB (FORMERLY FARM RESORT) TO ROUTE 15

SNAPSHOT:

This primarily back-country tour begins by climbing gently out of the Rte. 100 valley, then climbs and descends steeply over the shoulder of Elmore Mountain, and concludes with a downhill run on a snowmobile trail into the Lamoille River Valley. There are great views of Mt. Mansfield from the shoulder of Elmore Mountain.

LENGTH: 14.1 miles

DIFFICULTY:

From Ryder Brook Golf Course to Elmore Mountain Rd. the CT is of easy to intermediate difficulty, involving a gentle climb. From Elmore Mountain Rd. to Elmore Store is advanced because of steep ascents and descents. From Elmore Store to Rte. 15 is intermediate due to the gentler terrain and wider trail that is shared with snowmobiles. Allow at least six hours for an experienced skier in good snow conditions to ski this entire section.

ROUTE DESCRIPTION:

From the Ryder Brook Golf Club (0.0), cross Rte. 100 and ski diagonally across an evergreen plantation (about 200 yards) northeast to Goeltz Rd. Ski (or walk east along Goeltz Rd.). Cross a bridge and in about 0.1 mile you'll see CT blazes on your right heading into a large field. Follow the blazes and blue flagging around the perimeter of the field, watching for a right turn into a wooded area. Skiing about 0.5 miles through an area of recently logged softwoods will bring you again to Goeltz Rd. (1.3).

Cross the road and continue northeast into a large field marked by CT blazes on stakes. Cross Randolph Rd. (1.6) where there's a blaze on a telephone pole, and head east up through a smaller field to a tree line. Here the CT enters the woods and for the next couple of miles and winds through some lovely evergreens on wide trails, which are often groomed by the landowner. There are occasional clearings, two beaver ponds and some wonderful views of the Worcester Range to the east and Mt. Mansfield to the west.

Cross Bliss Hill Rd. (3.1), and soon you'll ski through a large, flat field blazed along a fence line. Follow CT blazes to the right, staying close to the edge of the woods and away from the nearby house. Crossing a wire fence, make a right turn to enter the woods and in about 0.4 miles cross Leahy Rd. (4.0). Follow a farm road as it winds through woods, a clearing, and some scattered trees before reaching another large, flat field. Head east toward the lone building, an old gray barn about 0.3 miles away on Elmore Mountain Rd. (4.6).

Cross Elmore Mountain Rd. and angle slightly left (northeast) through the field up to the woods. For the next five miles, until you reach Lake Elmore, you will be in a remote and rugged area. The Trail now climbs about 500 vertical feet through the woods to the Elmore Mountain ridgeline (5.6). From the top of the ridge, ski downhill) for about 0.2 miles on an old road (CAUTION: steep, narrow and rough). You are now on land conserved by the Vermont Land Trust. Watch carefully for a sharp left (north) turn off the road and into the woods. The Trail now heads north through beautiful deciduous forest and into Elmore State Park. The trail undulates, steadily climbs another 400 feet, and then descends gently, until finally reaching the unplowed park road (7.9). Continue downhill to the Elmore State Park entrance, bearing slightly right near the entry booth and over a small berm. Continue straight, then bear right through a small field. Exit the bottom of the field on the left side into a short brushy area, then cross another small field to meet Rte. 12 at the Beach Road intersection. Turn right and proceed south along the side of Rte. 12 toward Lake Elmore Village (9.5). The Elmore Village Store (deli and hot drinks inside, port-o-potty out back) is about 100 yards ahead.

Note: Be alert for other trail users in Elmore State Park. The park road is heavily used by skiers, snowshoers, hikers, and local mushers. Sled dogs are normally friendly but may be distracted by other dogs, creating a big tangle of harnesses and dogs. If you see a sled dog team while skiing with your dog, please call your dog to your side.

From the Elmore Store, cross Rte. 12 and ski about 0.1 mile northeast across a field on the VAST snowmobile trail to a T junction with the plowed Hosking Farm Rd. Turn right (with VAST trail) and walk along the road shoulder for 0.1 miles to a T junction with Greaves Hill Rd. (9.8), where the VAST trail turns left. Leaving the snowmobile trail, cross to the south side of Greaves Hill Rd. and look for an opening in the hedgerow with a Catamount blaze set back from the road (to discourage snowmobile use). The Trail heads into a clearing and southeast toward a refurbished old barn. Turn left and ski uphill past the barn and through a meadow. At the top of the field enter the woods on the left and soon you'll be in a small sugarbush. Please be careful of the maple sap lines that cross the Trail several times. Continue through an area of brushy growth. Cross a snowmobile trail (unplowed portion of Greaves Hill Rd.), and then go straight uphill into some softwoods. Catamount blazes continue for another half mile before the CT intersects VAST Corridor #100A (10.9) at a T junction.

Turn left (north) on VAST #100A (which has a nice variety of wooded trails, open northerly views, and is mostly downhill) and continue to a T intersection with Elmore Pond Rd. Turn left and follow the Trail (and VAST 100A) along the side of the road for about 100 yards. Cross Elmore Pond Rd. and (with the snowmobile trail) proceed down a driveway, which turns right (east) and becomes an unplowed road. Bear left at the intersection in a high open field, and then follow the Trail north down a long unplowed road. Near the bottom the road becomes plowed again. At the bottom, at a snowmobile trail junction, leave VAST #100A (which makes a right turn) and turn left (west) up a plowed driveway. After a short climb, leave the driveway and follow the snowmobile trail to the right (north) for a downhill run to a farm and Corley Rd. (12.9), which is plowed. Turn left and follow the road. Cross the Lamoille River on a bridge and ski northwest across a farm field to the Lamoille Valley Rail Trail (LVRT), which runs parallel to and few yards south of Rte. 15. Turn left and ski west on the LVRT for 0.7 miles, then make a sharp right turn on a farm road, and ski about 30 yards uphill to Rte. 15 (14.1).
